Biography:

I am a native Italian speaker from Milan who has lived in Ireland for the past 15 years. I would describe my teaching approach as being encouraging and person-centred. I teach conversational classes as well as grammar and vocabulary for specific purposes like travelling or work. I also focus upon areas which I am passionate about such as literature, poetry, art and music to add depth and cultural richness to learning Italian. I teach both in-person and online as well as hosting various cultural events and a regular Italian Book Club.
